One of the longest and toughest road trips laid ahead of us last week. SHOC at Sacred Heart Senior College was going to be a great challenge for the playing and coaching group. SHOC narrowly lost to Henley at Henley in Round 1 and a good showing like that was always going to make them even hungrier to get a win on the board in 2010. If you have never been to SHOC's oval, it is very similar to Adelaide Oval - long and thin.

The boys were very keen early and this saw us jump SHOC in the first quarter going into the first break with a 2-3 goal buffer. Steven Pitt was fantastic up forward, marking everything that came his way and converting every one of them.

The second quarter saw another good showing by the boys. Our accountability, hunger and intensity were all at a high level. We played a fast, free flowing game with good decision making and good execution. At half time we went into the rooms with a 5 goal lead.

For all of those that do not believe that footy is 10% ability and 90% attitude, you would have changed your views after witnessing our third quarter. It was as though our committed and determined side had been replaced by 21 players who seemed, dare I say disinterested??? Our work rate dropped and in turn our decision making and execution of skills also suffered. In saying this, credit must be given to SHOC who came out in the third with great intensity. They put us under a lot of pressure, causing turn overs and ultimately scoring opportunities for them.

SHOC managed to close to within a goal 5 minutes into the last quarter. However to the credit of our playing group we managed to wrestle the momentum from them and kick away to a winning margin of 5 goals. An effort like this highlighted how much talent and fortitude this playing group has and made me very proud of their performance. The efforts of Matt Gibson throughout the game were great, particularly in the last where he single handedly won 4-5 centre clearances. Steven Pitt was solid all day, ending with 7 goals (unofficially - 1 thanks to Phil Doyle).

Daniel Wicks also lead from the front, chiming in with 3 crucial goals. Karl Jessen and Dylan Olive also highlighted the depth of our playing group, both coming into the side and making solid contributions in the last quarter.

Special mentions must go to the Vice Captain of the A's, David Ford on his 100th game for TTG and that of Steven Pitt who played his 50th. Both had fantastic games and to be able to reward them with a win was great to do.

We now turn to Salisbury North, who are also 2 wins and 0 losses for 2010. It is going to be another great challenge for the guys on a special weekend in Australian history - Anzac Day. Please make the effort to get out and support the boys and show some patriotism and pride for the Diggers.

After a good win last week we came back to earth with huge thud. Travelling to SHOC we knew it was going to be tough playing last years premiers who had also beaten Henley the week before.

It was a good start kicking the first goal within 30 secs, for the rest of the game we were completely outplayed in every facet of the game. I could safely say we did not have one player who won his position.

Yes, they were a good side, but to only kick one goal was the most disappointing part.

As a team if every player was honest with themselves, I'm certain not one would be able to say they played the way the club, us coaches and their team mates would expect.

I'm sure over the last few years under Goose the B grade would have built up a level of respect from its supporters and opposition sides. On Saturday in the space of two hours we have lost that respect that was earned over that time.

But what is most important is the how we react this week against Salisbury North both as players and coaches. The beauty is we get to redeem ourselves.

I'm sure the lads will react in a positive way and I hope they are looking forward to this Saturday as much as I am.

An interesting and heart felt loss but a great reality check.

From the first bounce to the last kick it was challenging and at times frustrating to watch. We had so much of the football but couldn't do anything right with it. Great games from Brad Myers and Pete Uncle. Ben Haynes was strong on all fronts and Chris Hannah when moved into ruck made it his own. We unfortunately did not have much after that with only patches of brilliance but miles of inconsistency. SHOC were just all over us with their run and forward set up. We tried to disable their forward set up with numbers and personnel with many a change, but still the run from their defensive midfielders and their delivery into their forward line on the day was too good.

Things that we can do to improve is as follows. The best way we use our voice and then LISTEN to that voice. I emphasis this. We have to play a stronger and smarter brand of football in D7. At this point in time the fitness level that we need to be at to be able to match it to these faster sides is lacking and I know that we can fix this. The biggest room for improvement is to get us up to the skill set level of what is required and expected of a D7 side. Combine these elements of listening, running, delivering and we again will be competitive.

Often people say that its good to lose. It builds strength , determines character and draws from within for all.

I find it all of the above and so too does this team hence why 2 losses is enough!

If we from now start to train like we play and make every effort to hit every target with even more intent, then bring on the rest of the season.

Lets get over Modbury at their home ground and start a new journey on this ANZAC weekend.

Round 2 saw the Div 7 Reserves host Sacred Heart, a team which played finals in this grade last season and as expected proved to be a quick, skilful and fit opposition. Fortunately this week saw our blokes much more committed to providing a contest and matching if not bettering our opposition in winning contested ball, which was pleasing. Ultimately it could be said that our desperation was rewarded with a draw, which whilst is not a loss is still not an acceptable result to us.

While we did have opportunities to win the game we still turned the ball over too often and on occasions were exposed for lacking pace and fitness. We struggled to find a forward target and the ball seemed to rebound out of our forward line too easily. Overall however it was a much improved effort from the previous week with the majority of the team making a sound contribution.

I thought we controlled the centre bounces and clearances throughout the day thanks again largely to Glen Mount winning the hard ball and bringing his team mates into the game in another best on ground effort. Jay Borlace rucked all day and as always was super competitive, while Nathan 'Rowdy' Manto played another great captains game supporting Mouny in the middle by continually winning the hard ball and using it to advantage.

The main reason we did not suffer a loss in this game was due to the commitment of our defenders. After losing Craig Arthur our most experienced backman to injury for eight weeks Shane Jarman stepped up in game 100 for the Club and led from the front. As always Jars put his body on the line to make a contest and then went forward in the last quarter to kick two (2) goals to keep us in the game. As always Jars put his body on the line to make a contest and then went forward in the last quarter to kick two (2) goals to keep us in the game.

Trav Langston provided plenty of rebound from Centre Half Back, Daniel Thompson was hard at the ball and body while Mick Pennycuick played his best game for the Club combining courage with run and clean kills. Dave Valentine returned to his hard nosed best laying tackles and winning contested footy and Dylan Brown was again brilliant at Full Back. To say I was pleased with the effort of these blokes is an understatement and they along with Mouny and Rowdy have set the standard for the rest of the team to follow.

As mentioned last week we should by now be aware that this competition is far from 'D' grade standard. I believe there is still a great deal of improvement within the team. We have a number of players who are yet to play their best footy. Ben McDonnell is starting to find the football and won't be far away from taking his spot back in the midfield, Jase Olsen played his first game back and will be much better for the run and Tommy Christly is still learning the game and has the potential to be another Pete Uncle. (If he's half as good we're already on a winner!) Pete Baker also contributed after taking a couple of years off and will be another good player for us.

We are likely to be without several key players this week due to previous commitments and injury so I challenge each and every player to get themselves up for this week. It shouldn't be hard considering that we play the arch enemy Modbury in what is an absolute MUST WIN game for us.
