A home game against D1 veteran Gaza was a good opportunity to bounce back from a loss to Goodwood Saints. Our training on Thursday night was of high quality and this showed in our first quarter which was everything we strive to play like week in and week out.

However old demons came out again and like in the Salisbury North game, the lads went to sleep for 12-15 minutes. Doing this in a Division 1 competition will always hurt you and to Gaza's credit they made us pay with interest. They piled on 5-6 unanswered goals, un-doing all of the good work we did in the first quarter.

We are playing good football, but we are doing it in patches. If we can put this together for four quarters we will match it with the best in the business. It will be nice to welcome back a few from injury and start putting pressure on spots.

We look to Port District at Port District and ask for all the supporters to get down there and get behind us. We are a 'new look' squad from that of last year, but this squad is capable of anything when they put their mind to it. This could very well be a season defining game and bring us back to a level win/loss record.

This week we were up against Gaza at home, they were sitting bottom and had been beaten by 20 goals last week. On face value it looked to be an easy win, the only thing being we had been beaten by 20 goals by the same side that beat Gaza the week before as well and we were only above them by a couple of percent.

So i must admit I was a bit edgy in the hours leading up to the game, knowing we had played well the week before I knew we only had to be switched on to play four quarters of intense football and we would get the job done. All for about ten minutes in the second quarter that's what we did and were able to run out easy winners by 15 goals.

One of the pleasing aspects was to keep them scoreless in the last quarter, it would have been easy to relax and let them get a few goals late in the game, but the lads ran the game out right to the end.

I could pretty well name the whole side as playing well and it was pleasing to see a number of lads to get a fair bit of the ball and gain some confidence, others who had been playing well continued their good form which was also pleasing.

The hardest thing this year will be for us to consistently play at a high standard which is good enough to beat any side in the competition (including SHOC)

The challenge also is to get plenty of the ball against harder opposition starting this week with Port Districts.

They are in the same position, trying to push for a top five spot. Im sure we will continue to improve and gain more confidence week by week, giving us a great opportunity to put a couple of wins together.

A comprehensive loss to a very inform and strategic side who is without a doubt the benchmark of our competition.

They were all over us and we were out of it from the get go unfortunately. We tried absolutely everything, but damn they're good! We showed some fight in patches but were out classed in every way all day all over the ground.

The result can provide opportunities to have an understanding of how they play so we learn on how to beat them.

First and foremost more run and strength in our legs would be an advantage but secondly applying some concise decision making and employing a diverse range of skills, which I repeatedly refer too, needs to improve. A side as good as they are and other A7 sides are only that good because we give it up to easy by not thinking about what it is we are meant to do.

Positives were that Shayne Tregloan and Pete Uncle continue to dominate from their positions on the field and Grant Williams got a lot more from the game as he was moved up and back to provide lift. New comers to the club Shannon Elcheikh and Ryan Williams with his brother Alex John gave us run and strength and Rockstar showed glimpses of his brilliance on the wing. Lee Tregloan and Dan Paull had moments but after that we were all passengers including me.

This week provides an opportunity to stay ahead of the pack that's forming that cant beat sides like Adelaide Uni , Mawson Lakes and Sacred Heart.

Lets do that with integrity, passion and teamwork and aim for a top 5 spot.

Round 5 saw the Div 7 Reserves take on the reigning premiers in Adelaide Uni at University Oval. While the overall result was a five goal loss it was ultimately one quarter of football which decided the game. For three quarters our endeavour, hardness at the contest and willingness to apply pressure kept us in the game against a highly skilled and quality opposition.

Unfortunately we could not maintain our intensity and allowed Uni to come out in the third quarter and kick six unanswered goals, effectively sealing the game. Regardless there were some positives to take out of the game in that we did not fade out and fought back to convincingly win the last quarter. Another positive that we can take away from the game is the belief that when we assert ourselves and play accountable, uncompromising football we can match it with the very best sides in the competition.

The Div 7 Reserves competition is proving to be of a surprisingly high standard and to be brutally honest we simply do not have the talent to match the 'top' sides. Having said that however our team, particularly in the last two weeks, is really improving in respect to winning contested ball and so too is the pressure we are applying to our opponents.

If we can continue to improve in these two key aspects of the game we don't need to be the most talented side in the competition to make an impact and there is no reason why we can't beat these 'top' sides.

Once again we had a number of blokes who played well on the weekend and none more so than Glen Mount. This bloke is just a complete footballer and is no doubt one of the best players to have ever pulled on a Gully jumper. He's also one of the most humble blokes I've ever met and wouldn't like the fact that I've pumped his tyres up again, but Mouny simply deserves every accolade he gets.

Shane Jarman also played another great game and is a fantastic leader, particularly to the defenders and younger blokes in the team. Jars is a great competitor and is never beaten. The way he puts his body on the line in every contest and then makes second and third efforts sets a great example to the rest of the lads.

Young Brad Deluca played another good game as did Travi Langston, Dylan Brown and Dave Valentine while up forward Liam McAndie provided us with genuine target and Sammy Cox was serviceable after returning from injury.

Our next three games are at home and we really need to take the opportunity to keep our season alive by winning all of them. This won't be easy but if we continue to improve and to play the type of football we are now starting to play there is no reason why can't chalk up three wins.

I would invite any members of the Club who haven't seen the Div 7 Reserves this year to come out on Saturday and see the game against Central United. You may be surprised by the standard of football that's being played in this grade and the boys are now starting to play the type of football we expect at our Club.

Perfect conditions contrasted with imperfect preparation for the home game against Modbury on Sunday. Training during the week had been rather lacklustre and being a big believer in "you play as you train" the possibility of "I told you so" loomed large. And so it was.....

The cold hard facts are that we won every quarter and eventually won by 8 goals, 1 goal short of doubling their score, I'll do my best to dress this up as a performance I was entirely happy with, make of it what you will. Consistency in individuals and predictability in performance are a little hard to forecast but I think we're on the right track, the room for improvement remains by far the biggest room in the house.

And so back to the game. We won because we are better athletes physically and with greater football ability in the majority of positions, nothing more than that, which is why an 8 goal win doesn't excite me greatly. We didn't really get near doing what we're capable of. Modbury should be applauded for giving us the contest they did because with the limited resources they possess their comparative effort was I believe considerably better than ours.

Players who did well over the whole of the game were a little difficult to find but "Mattress" Min managed 6 goals 4 out of a total of 15 goals 13 which is an outrageously high proportion of the total, an exceptional performance. The guy has grown enormously in stature since last year; his natural ability has always been evident but this year he's moving much closer to realizing his potential which is all one can ask for.

Jordan Camplin was closer to his hard at it best, as well as pre-match delivering a substantial "horse and cart" which certainly roused a few nostrils in the vicinity. The captain Kye Maniotis was as always his busy self after having been ill for the majority of the week, it didn't show.

Ben Mutton the "Ginger Ninja" works enormously hard at the close in tough stuff and instigates a lot of our moves, much of his work isn't always fancy but it's extremely necessary and respected. Chris Foura kicked 3 very good goals but I think everyone knows his talent suggests he could perhaps achieve that each quarter rather than spread across a whole game. Brett (should be picked for Norwood) Pike showed his ironman credentials by playing a full game in the B Grade the day before and Rhys Smith continues to frighten opponents with the "comic strips" on his arms, though on a wet day I fear they may rub off.

And so to a couple of guys who are proving serviceable and workmanlike, quietly going about their business performing roles that are as necessary as they at times unspectacular, Riley Liddell and Matt Wiseman, I like the way you're going about it. Dylan and Matt Burton-Wilson keep up the professional approach, you're improving each week and you're going about things the right way, I look forward to seeing how good you can be at the business end of the season, you're both on the right track.

And so to a few names who I know possess the required nous and talent but for whatever reason thus far haven't performed entirely as we would like, Luke Bollmeyer, Jason DeLorme, Luke Quinn and Jai Higgins, let's get the benefits of your obvious ability showing a little more often and for prolonged periods, outstanding performances from you all are a lot closer than I think you realize.
